

Method and apparatus for loading a fibrous stock suspension

Abstract

An apparatus for loading a cellulose fiber containing fibrous stock suspension (1) with calcium carbonate comprises an arrangement (2) of machines for loading the fibrous stock suspension (1) with calcium carbonate, whereby said machines are supplied with flue gas (3) which contains carbon dioxide. The machines are followed by a deaeration unit (6) for the removal of superfluous gas.

(Figure)